A well attended meeting of those interested in the matter of the organization of a National Farm Loan Association was held in the county training school in this city on the 15th instant.

Mr. W. S. Arnold, of Minneapolis, an appraiser for the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul was present and explained the workings of the Federal Land Bank and after a thorough discussion of the matter it was decided by those present to organize under the name of the Wood County National Farm Association of Grand Rapids.

Hauer, vice president. The secretary-treasurer, not being required to be a borrower, the directors elected G. E. Holes as such secretary-treasurer.

The Association being fully organized is now ready to consider applications for loans from the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul.

TIME TO APPLY FOR FISH FRY

The division of fisheries of the state conservation commission is now ready to receive applications for fish fry. The fry are to be distributed to the county, according to notice issued by James G. Nevin of the commission. Blank forms will be supplied for the purpose of application, to be filled out stating the location of the fish pond and describing the water to be stocked, and then returned to the department.

The bulletin, which gives directions for "planting" the fry follows: "When the fry are ready for distribution the applicant at Madison notifies the division by letter of the hour, day and date that the fish are to arrive at his millway station, enclosing a card which the applicant must fill in and sign saying he will be on hand to receive the fish at the time specified, that he will see that the fry are taken to the stream and planted according to directions in the circular letter and that he will ship the fry to the depot at once. The cons are needed for other shipments. Applicants must make it a point to be at the millway station upon arrival of the train and receive the fish promptly to the lake or stream as soon as possible.

Brook and brown trout fry should be planted in small spring rivulet feeders of the main stream, as the temperature of the water will be the same as the fry are accustomed to at the hatchery. In these small spring rivulets there will be very few varieties of other fish to prey upon the fry.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

FROM PVT. GILBERT SANDMAN

France, Nov. 25, 1918

Dear Father:—Yesterday was the day when I should have written to you but as I was on guard, I didn't have time.

I have been quite a little of France and am now ready to go back to the U. S. A. I am sending you a list of names and places where we were and the date of arrival and leaving.

I was battalion runner during the time the division was in some drive and night work. I was in the same district. The division took its first sector of the lines on about the 26th of July. It was called the "Tul" front, but not called that until after the fact.

It was also while we were there that I found out what it was like to be a soldier. I had never known a man's hand which I guess the Hunns thought was theirs for they tried to drive us back.

WILSON PLANS TOUR OF U. S.

President Seeks Public View on World League, Says Paris Dispatch.

MAY MAKE TRIP IN MARCH

Plans to Return to Peace Conference After Learning Country's Opinion—Gives Dinner to Members of American Commission.

Paris, Jan. 16.—President Wilson is considering a speaking tour of the United States when he returns home. It is said that this trip will take place in the early part of the year, and it is possible that he may touch the Pacific coast. His plans are not yet matured, but it is believed that he has discussed the plan with his advisers.

With congress out of the way early in March, Mr. Wilson will have an opportunity for such a tour before returning to Europe should he decide to call one.

So far as known, Mr. Wilson has no plans for an extra session, but he still holds to his idea of returning to the peace conference, if it is felt his presence is necessary to the success of the league of nations.

The object of his proposed speaking tour would be to inform the country by personal contact of the proceedings at Paris and at the same time sound out and encourage public sentiment in support of the peace principles he has championed and which he feels have been maintained by the masses in Europe.

There is as yet no official announcement of the president's purpose, but some of those close to him suggest such a trip is feasible. It is now certain that the peace conference will still be working on its problems during the summer. Mr. Wilson's friends believe that popular expressions in the United States might support those of England, France and Italy and have great influence on European statesmen.

The president has told his friends that he considers the reception given him by the people of Europe, not as a personal endorsement but as approval of his peace principles. He is being urged, therefore, to make a speaking tour to give opportunity for popular manifestations of public opinion in his own country.

President Wilson gave a dinner to members of the American peace commission and its technical advisers, including E. N. Hurley, B. N. Baruch, Herbert C. Hoover and Vance McCord, on Jan. 15. He was the only member of the commission to leave his home.

The first question to come up next Saturday will be that of the proposed league of nations, and it was made known today that it had been planned for the conference to devote 12 hours daily to this work if necessary, until it is on the way to completion.

Washington, Jan. 15.—President Wilson's appeal for an appropriation of $100,000,000 for the purchase of food for the starving liberated peoples of central Europe, which was approved by the house of representatives by a vote of 242 to 73, has brought the problem of bolshevism forcibly to the attention of congress.

In a message solemnly urging congress to appropriate the $100,000,000 requested for European food relief, President Wilson said bolshevism, steadily advancing westward, could not be stopped by force, but could be stopped by food. Food relief, he said, would lead to the whole European situation and to the solution of peace. Bolshevism is steadily advancing westward, he said, and it cannot be stopped by force, but it can be stopped by food, and that is the only way to stop it. He said that it was of the utmost importance that the president's request be granted at once.

Following is the president's message: "The money will not be spent for food for Germany itself, because Germany can buy its food, but it will be spent for financing the movement of food to our real friends in Poland and to the people of the liberated units of the Austro-Hungarian empire, and to our associates in the Balkans. I beg that you will present this matter with all possible urgency and force to the congress."

"I do not see how we can find definite powers with which to conclude peace unless the means of stopping the tide of anarchy be stopped."

The president's message, addressed to Senator Martin of Virginia and Representative Sherry of Kentucky, chairman of the congressional appropriations committee, and that of Mr. White were read on the floor of the house by Mr. Sherry during debate on a special rule to give immediate consideration to the appropriation bill.

Regular Program of Legislation Mapped Out to Gain Peace Footing—Numerous Important Measures to Get Attention.

Madison.—A program of reconstruction and readjustment to put the state back on a peaceful footing will be worked out by a special committee of the senate. In the makeup of the senate committee this year, a new committee has been created, headed by Senator Roy B. Wilcox, which will consider reconstruction subjects.

All ideas regarding reconstruction will be pooled through this committee, which plans to develop a regular program of legislation on this subject.

Only a small amount of insurance legislation has been prepared for this session of the legislature. It is expected that there will be proposed legislation under which no veteran soldier will be permitted to write new business after January 1, 1920, at rates below those based on the national fraternal congress table. Many, if not all of the Wisconsin fraternalists, it is believed, will support legislation of this character. Commissioner M. J. Cleary of the insurance department will prepare a bill on this subject.

Marriage laws in this state will be subjected to amendment. It is proposed that some of the county clerks in other counties of the legislature are carried out. Statistics indicate that there has been a decrease in the number of marriages performed in the state and an increase in the number of Wisconsin people going to other states to marry. The principal objection to the Wisconsin law is said to be the provision that names of applicants must be posted five days before the license to marry can be issued.

The creation of a state health department, to support the present state board of health is outlined in a measure to be presented soon.

Following the suggestion of Governor Philip in his recent message, the foreign language bill is expected to be dropped into the hopper soon by Assemblyman Alexander Johnson of Polk county. ## WILSON PLANS TOUR OF U. S.

President Seeks Public View on World League, Says Paris Dispatch.

MAY MAKE TRIP IN MARCH

Plans to Return to Peace Conference After Learning Country's Opinion—Gives Dinner to Members of American Commission.

Paris, Jan. 16.—President Wilson is considering a speaking tour of the United States when he returns home. It is said that this trip will take him into many of the principal cities and it is possible that he may touch the Pacific coast. His plans are not as yet matured, but it is believed that he has discussed the plan with his advisers.

Wilson's congress tour of the way early in April. Mr. Wilson would have an opportunity for such a tour before returning to Europe should he follow his original plan and if his return should be necessary. He would also have time for his proposed trip before the convening of an extraordinary session of congress should he decide to call one.

So far as known, Mr. Wilson has no plans for an extra session, but he still holds to his idea of returning to the peace conference, if it is felt his presence is necessary to the success of the league of nations.

The object of his proposed speaking tour would be to inform the country by personal contact of the proceedings at Paris and at the same time sound out and encourage public sentiment in support of the peace principles he has enunciated and which he feels have been maintained by the masses in Europe.

Wilson's plans are yet no official announcements of the president's purpose, but some of those close to him suggest such a trip is feasible in view of the fact that it is now certain that the peace conference will still be working on its problems during the summer. Mr. Wilson's friends believe that his personal expressions in the United States might support the cause of England, France and Italy and have great influence on American statesmen.

The president has told his friends that he considers the reception given him by the people of Europe, not as a personal endorsement but as an approval of his peace principles. He is being urged, therefore, to make a speaking tour to give opportunity for popular manifestations of public opinion in his own country.

President Wilson gave a dinner to members of the American peace commission and its technical advisers, including E. N. Hurley, B. N. Baruch, Herbert C. Hoover and Vance McCord, E. M. House was the only absentee, being still too ill to leave his home.

The first question to come up before the actual peace conference next Saturday will be that of the proposed league of nations, and it was made known today that it had been planned for the conference to devote 12 hours daily to this work if necessary, until it is on the way to completion.

UNITED STATES TO FEED EUROPE

House Votes $100,000,000 Asked for by the President for Food.

FEAR OF THE BOLSHEVIKI

Henry White's Request for Action Follows That of the Executive—Senate Probably Will Act at Once.

Washington, Jan. 15.—President Wilson's appeal for an appropriation of $100,000,000 for the purchase of food for the starving liberated peoples of central Europe, which was approved by the house of representatives by a vote of 242 to 73, has brought the problem of bolshevism forcibly to the attention of congress.

In a message solemnly urging congress to appropriate the $100,000,000 requested for European food relief, President Wilson said bolshevism, steadily advancing westward, could not be stopped by force, but could be stopped by food. Food relief, he said, was the key to the whole European situation and to the solutions of peace. A message from Henry White, member of the American peace delegation, to the state department said that the "startling westward advance of bolshevism" dominated the entire European situation above all else, and that it was of the utmost importance that the president's request be granted at once.

Following is the president's message: "I cannot too earnestly or solemnly urge upon the congress the appropriation for which Mr. Hoover has asked for the administration of food relief. Food relief is now the key to the whole European situation and to the solutions of peace. Bolshevism is steadily advancing westward, poisoning Germany. It cannot be stopped by force, but it can be stopped by food, and all the leaders with whom I am in conference agree that concerted action in this matter is of immediate and vital importance."

"The money will not be spent for food for Germany, because Germany cannot buy its food, but it will be spent for financing the movement of food to our real friends in Poland and to the people of the liberated units of the Austro-Hungarian empire, and to our associates in the Balkans. I beg that you will present this matter with all possible urgency and force to the congress."

"I do not see how we can find definite powers with whom to conclude peace unless this means of stemming the tide of anarchism be employed."

The president's message, addressed to Senator Martin of Virginia and Representative Sherry of Kentucky, chairman of the congressional appropriations committee, and that of Mr. White were read on the floor of the house by Mr. Sherry during debate on a special rule to give immediate consideration to the appropriation bill.

NEW COMMITTEE HAS LARGE TASK

Reconstruction and Readjustment Being Worked Out for the State.

ALL IDEAS WILL BE POOLED

Regular Program of Legislation Mapped Out to Gain Peace Footing—Numerous Important Measures to Get Attention.

Madison.—A program of reconstruction and readjustment to put the state back on a peace footing will be worked out by a special committee of the senate. In the makeup of the senate committee, a new committee has been created, headed by Senator Roy P. Wilcox, which will consider reconstruction subjects.

All ideas regarding reconstruction will be pooled through this committee, which plans to develop a regular program of legislation on this subject. Only a small amount of legislation is being prepared for this session of the legislature. It is expected that there will be proposed legislation under which no federal money will be permitted to write new business after January 1, 1920, at rates below those based on the national fraternal congress table. May, if not all of the Wisconsin federalists, it is believed, will support legislation of this character. Commissioner M. J. Cleary of the insurance department will prepare a bill on this subject.

Marriage laws in this state are to be subjected to amendment. If the proposals of some of the county clerks in letters to members of the legislature are carried out. Statutes in effect that there has been a decrease in the number of marriages performed in the state and an increase in the number of divorces. The principal objection to the Wisconsin law is said to be the provision that names of applicants must be posted five days before the license to marry can be issued.

The creation of a state health department, to supply the present state board of health, is outlined in a measure now presented.

Following the suggestion of Governor Philipp in his recent message, the foreign language bill is expected to be dropped into the hopper soon by Assemblyman Alexander Johnson of Polk county. The measure will provide for the elimination of foreign languages in all the state schools and in high schools, except upon request of the students in the latter.

Important changes in the state fish and game laws are asked by the state conservation commission which has just submitted its report.

Adolph G. Reiser, national secretary of the Socialist party, formerly prominent in the affairs of the miners' union. Gerner was born in East Prussia.

J. Louis Engdahl, editor of the American Socialist.

Taylor, Green Bay banker, in addressing delegates to the Master Builders' association of Wisconsin, at a banquet at Green Bay. Mr. Taylor's statement was made while discussing proposals confronting business men here.

Madison.—A request for an appropriation of $500,000 for the organized militia of the National Guard is asked of the legislature by Adj. Gen. Orlando Holway in a letter to Governor Philipp. Under the terms of the federal law Wisconsin must organize before June 3, 1921, in military units not less than 10,000 men. This necessitates a doubling of the present appropriation of $250,000. Full details of the law and the purpose of the appropriation are set forth in Adjutant General Holway's letter to the governor.

Law Is Valid in Other States

Madison.—In an opinion to E. J. Jedney, district attorney of Black River Falls, Attorney General J. J. Blaine ruled that it was within the discretion of the county court to grant or refuse aid to a widow and several children left to the care of a $700 of $1,000 by a deceased husband and father.

With the Lawmakers.

Madison.—The prohibition contest overshadows all other legislative issues and will be the stumbling block to the legislature until it has been disposed of. Senator Skogmo hopes to get action on the resolution in the senate this week.

Members of the Wisconsin legislature will draw their salary of $500 when they return this week. The announcement was made last week that the salary will not be paid until the legislature is adjourned, but most of the members had already left for their homes.

The last session of the legislature passed a constitutional amendment providing for an increase in the salary of members of the legislature. This resolution is again before the house. The sentiment seems to be general in favor of its passage. This amendment would increase the salary from $500 to $1,200.

The railroad lobbyist is missing at this session of the legislature. When the railroads were taken over by the federal government it was announced that no lobbyist would be sent to the different legislatures.

The city manager bill will come into the assembly from the senate. Mr. Oshkosh, who will devote his entire efforts to secure its passage.

The woman suffrage bill is already looking over the legislative membership. A suffrage bill will be offered at this session of the legislature.

Lieut. Gov. Edward P. Dittmar is working out a plan for a short session of the legislature which is attracting considerable attention among members of the legislature. Mr. Dittmar proposes to reverse the present legislative procedure by holding committee hearings in the morning instead of the afternoon and then calling legislative sessions at four in the afternoon. A petition in favor of a change in the rules to insure a shorter session is being circulated by Mr. Dittmar.

Mr. Becker showed the tendency of city dwellers, transplanted into the country, to follow wasteful methods and neglect adequate farm building measures.

IN FRANCE OF OLD TIMES

Before the Cruelty of War Led the Minds of Men Astray From Proper Things. When you think of Christmas as it used to be in France, the first thing that comes into your mind is the "creeches" that are set up in all the churches. The Virgin, the Child in the manger, Joseph, the shepherds, and their sheep, the three wise men from the Orient with their camels. Sometimes even a shepherd dog is added for "realism" although he is apt to be modeled on the lines of the chicken burger of France, rather than of Palestine. In the poorest village church and in the cathedrals alike, the Christmas candles shone on this charming tableau, and in the evening, after the day's work was over, whole families went to pay their respects to "St. Sainet Verge et le petit Jesus"—old grandmothers and grandfathers, fathers and mothers, and their young children in black velvet aprons—even little Pierrot went in his mother's arms, although he would "mimo dodo" and keep on sleeping peacefully in a most unappreciative way.

This action, however, is merely perfunctory and the other states are expected to send in their certificates immediately.

Dry Nation July 1?

The amendment, under its provisions, becomes effective one year from the date of its final ratification. If ratification is completed this month, many officials here believe the country will become permanently dry next July 1, the date on which the special wartime prohibition recently enacted by congress goes into effect.

This law prevents the manufacture and sale of intoxicants for beverage purposes and remains in force until the demobilization of the nation's war armies is completed.

While the law thus becomes effective, additional legislation by congress is necessary to make it operative and ground work for this already has been laid. This legislation will prescribe penalties for violations of the amendment and determine how and by what agencies the law shall be enforced.

Mississippi Was First

The resolution providing for the federal amendment was passed by the United States senate, 65 to 20 on August 1, 1917, and by the house 282 to 128 on December 17, 1917. Mississippi was the first state to ratify the amendment. Its legislature acting on January 8, 1918. The text of the amendment follows: "Section 1.—After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

"Section 2.—The congress and the several states shall have a concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

"Section 3.—This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified by the legislatures of the several states, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the states by the congress."

States to Fight Ratification

San Francisco, Jan. 16.—Following the obtaining here of an order temporarily restraining Gov. William D. Stephens from signing ratification of the federal prohibition constitutional amendment it was indicated that similar action may be taken in certain other states. It was said at the office of the California Grape Growers' association that such action is possible in 12 other states.

This winter, according to the association, are: Arkansas, Colorado, Maine, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, Ohio, Utah, Washington, Missouri, and Nebraska.

In these states, it was said, all legislative actions can be under the law referred to the people and that in many cases the people have 60 days in which to take a referendum.

The rules of St. Andrews are adopted subject only to such local rules as the committee may consider necessary to meet the requirements of the case. It is from the local rules that one can gather what sort of a game golf is at sea. Here are a few:

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT FOR THOROUGHBREDS

Make Good in Time of War and Thrive in Days of Peace.

Lovers of Horses May Well Congratulate One Another on Great Things in Store—Advance in Value 50 Per Cent.

With the victory and peace following the world's war, lovers of horses, and especially of the thoroughbred, may well congratulate one another on the great things in store for the American thoroughbred, says New York Telegraph. In the war the horse played no small part, for it was cavalry riders that routed the Turks, as well as to drive back the Hun on the western front. This country has been depleted of horses fit for cavalry purposes, and the United States government has recognized the need of the improvement of the breed of horses by acquiring thoroughbred stallions of the very highest type and placing them upon government breeding farms. In the years to come the United States will have a higher type of horse for every purpose.

Especially are the owners of race horses to be congratulated, for today their racehorses have advanced in value probably 50 per cent more over what they may have been considered worth a week before the end of the conflict. The reason for this is that the millionaire owners, who were in the sport for the sport to be had out of it rather than for profit, will now be encouraged to purchase most liberally of the best to be had. Recently one Canadian millionaire paid $75,000 for three horses. The American sold because he expected to have his time taken up with helping the government.

Three days after he had sold he wired the trainer to sell as many as he would continue racing, and that trainer remarked that he would gladly give $100,000 to get back the three thoroughbreds he had sold for $75,000.

It now is assured that racing will be resumed in Canada next season. For the sport was only discontinued for the duration of the war, and may open automatically, without any legislation whatsoever. Across the Mexican border are two racetracks which were closed down on account of passport troubles. These both will be open in another year, and because there will be great opportunity for thoroughbreds to earn rich prizes and stakes their value must of necessity be advanced with their ability to show their real worth in racing.

PROTEIN FOODS ARE NECESSARY

Housewife Should Be Sure That Diet Contains Some Kind of Meat or a Substitute.

MILK IMPORTANT FOR CHILD

List Given Suggests Total Amount of Complete-Protein Food Desirable for Family Served in Form of Central Dish.

In planning meals and when buying supplies it is well to think of the following foods as in a class by themselves: Milk, eggs, cheese of all kinds, meats (except salt pork and bacon), poultry, fish and sea food. These foods are grouped together because they provide what is now called adequate or complete protein or protein combinations. The term "adequate" or "complete" is used in connection with these proteins because of their important relation to the proteins of the body.

Protein is an essential part of all the tissues of the body, including the muscles, the blood, and the organs. The material out of which body protein is made is constantly changing. It is sometimes said that the muscles and other tissues of the body "wear out" and are in constant need of "repair."

This is not an apt description of what really takes place, for it suggests periods of disorder in the body followed by periods of strength and well-being. As a matter of fact, the process by which body proteins take in new material to replace the old is a perfectly normal and healthy one which involves no "wearing out." The process does, however, create a never-ending demand for protein materials in the food.

Two Kinds of Proteins

The proteins of the diet are found chiefly in two classes of materials. To the first class belong milk, eggs, cheese, and flesh foods, all of which are relatively expensive under most conditions of living, and to the second belong the cereals, fruits, nuts, corn, barley, rice, and peas, and also beans, peas, and soybeans, all of which are relatively cheap. There is an important difference between the proteins of these two classes of foods. The first are complete and the second incomplete. This means that of the "building stones," or as chemists say, the amino acids, necessary for making body protein, the first supply all, while the second, with a few possible exceptions, are lacking in one or two.

To use bread or cereals in other forms to the exclusion of milk, eggs, cheese, and similar foods is unsafe from the standpoint of health, but to use the latter foods in greater amount than is needed usually adds to the cost of the diet. It becomes an important matter, therefore, to know how much of the perfect protein food one should use. It is generally agreed that a child under six should have either one quart of milk a day, or better still, three-fourths of a quart and one egg. A child over six should have a minimum of a pint of milk a day and a small amount of the other foods in the group.

A family consisting of four adults—two men and two women—will need moderately active muscular work should have a quart of milk a day and at least one and a half pounds of other or complete protein foods or their equivalent in milk. For supplying protein a quart of milk may be considered the equivalent of eight ounces of the other complete protein foods.

Depending on Cereals

If the housekeeper decides to depend chiefly on the relatively inexpensive cereals, beans and peas, for most of the protein needed by her family, and to use the more expensive protein foods only in amounts sufficient for body needs, she has on her hands the problem of determining how far the small supply will go and what kind of dishes she can prepare from them. To begin with, she should remember that the usefulness of these foods is not dependent on the form in which they are served, providing, of course, they are prepared in wholesome ways. For example, an egg used in the preparation of muffins, corn bread, custard or ice cream goes as far toward making body protein as when it is boiled or poached.

Most housekeepers serve a central dish of meat or meat substitute for dinner and for luncheon or supper and some serve such a dish for breakfast. This habit has the advantage of assuring a regular supply of the complete protein foods, but it may lead to the use of unnecessarily large amounts of them. A meal may be quite unusual in form and yet perfectly nutritious. It may consist of an unstrained meat soup containing the meat itself, with bread, or of cottage cheese with bread, butter, fruit, and vegetables. Or, it may seem to consist of dessert only, as when strawberry shortcake with milk as a heavy cream constitutes a supper or luncheon.

MEAT SUBSTITUTES

No matter how much bread a person eats, or how much corn meal or oatmeal, he falls short by just a little of obtaining everything needed for body protein unless he eats some of the complete protein foods. Eggs, cheese, fish, and poultry constitute the meat in containing complete protein, and they are sometimes called meat substitutes. Cereals, beans, and peas, on the other hand, are called not meat substitutes, but meat savers.

Use Apples Freely

The only fresh fruit many families in the North have during the cold months is the apple. Different ways of utilizing this kitchen standby are sure of a welcome from the cook. The department of agriculture suggests the following ways of serving the apple:

Fresh apples may be stuffed with sausage and then baked; sliced and fried in fat to serve with meats, or served raw in salads.

Canned, dried or stewed apples may be varied greatly by changing the flavors used.

Canned apples make a delicious addition to custards or souffles, adding a pleasant flavor.

Canned, dried or fresh, they form an acceptable basis for Brown Betty made with crumbs.

Fresh or canned, the fruit may be utilized in short cakes, and in apple sauce.

Wood and oil should be used for fuel whenever possible.

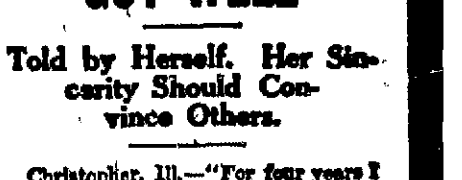

Electricity may be advantageously employed for canning.

Dip the tops of your fruit jars in paraffin to insure their keeping.

A Coated Tongue? What it Means

A bad breath, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, languor and debility, are usually signs that the liver is out of order. "Look, Henry," says the doctor, "the liver is an organ of great importance, and it is the seat of the blood. We can manufacture poisons within our own bodies which are as deadly as a snake's venom."

The liver acts as a guard over our well-being, sifting out the cinders and ashes from the general circulation.

A blockage in the intestines piles a heavy burden upon the liver. If the intestines are choked or clogged up, the circulation of the blood becomes poisoned and the system becomes loaded with toxic waste, and we suffer from headache, yellow-coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, nausea, or gas, acid dyspepsia, languor, debility, yellow skin or eyes. At such times one should take a pleasant laxative. Such a laxative is made of Mayapple, leaves of aloe, jalap, put into ready-to-use form by Doctor Pierce, nearly fifty years ago, and sold for 25 cents by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

IN FRANCE OF OLD TIMES

Before the Cruelty of War Led the Minds of Men Astray From Proper Things.

When you think of Christmas as used to be in France, the first thing that comes into your mind is the "noises" that are set up in all the churches—the Virgin, the Child in the manger, Joseph, the shepherds and their sheep, the three wise men from the Orient with their camels. Sometimes even a shepherd dog is added for "realism"—although he is apt to be modeled on the lines of the chief foreign minister rather than of Palestine. In the poorest village church and in the cathedrals alike, the Christmas carols shone on this charming tableau, and in the evening, after the day's work was over, whole families went to pay their respects to "the Saint George" and his "saints"—old Sainet George and his grandfathers, fathers and mothers, and dork-eyed children in black satin aprons—even little Pierrot went in his mother's arms, although he would "faute d'ado" and keep on sleeping peacefully in a most unappreciative way.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The legislatures of 36 states have ratified the prohibition amendment to the United States Constitution.

This action, however, is merely perfunctory and the other states are expected to send in their certificates immediately.

Dry Nation July 1?

The amendment, under its provisions, becomes effective one year from the date of its final ratification. If ratification is complete this month many officials believe the country will become permanently dry next July 1, the date on which the special wartime prohibition recently enacted by congress goes into effect.

This law prevents the manufacture and sale of intoxicants for beverage purposes and remains in force until the demobilization of the nation's war armies is completed.

While the law thus becomes effective, additional legislation by congress is necessary to make it operative and ground work for this already has been laid. This legislation will prescribe penalties for violations of the amendment and determine how and by what agencies the law shall be enforced.

Mississippi Was First

The resolution providing for the federal amendment was passed by the United States senate, 65 to 20 on August 1, 1917, and by the house 282 to 128, on December 17, 1917. Mississippi was the first state to ratify the amendment, its legislature acting on January 8, 1918. The text of the amendment follows:

"Section 1—After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territories subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

"Section 2—The congress and the several states shall have a concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

"Section 3—This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states provided for in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the states by the congress."

States to Fight Ratification

San Francisco, Jan. 16.—Following the obtaining here of an order temporarily restraining Gov. William D. Stephens from signing ratification of the federal prohibition constitutional amendment it was indicated that similar action may be taken in other states. It was said at the office of the California Grape Growers' association that such action is possible in 12 other states.

It is from the local rules that one can gather what sort of a game golf is at sea. Here are a few:

Protein is an essential part of all the tissues of the body, including the muscles, the blood, and the organs. The material out of which body protein is made is constantly changing. It is sometimes said that the muscles and other tissues of the body "wear out" and are in constant need of "repair."

This is not an apt description of what really takes place, for it suggests periods of disorder in the body followed by periods of strength and well-being. As a matter of fact, the process by which body proteins take in new material to replace the old is a perfectly normal and healthy one which involves no "wearing out." The process does, however, create a never-ending demand for protein materials in the food.

Two Kinds of Proteins. The proteins of the diet are found chiefly in two classes of materials. To the first class belong milk, eggs, cheese, and flesh foods, all of which are relatively expensive under most conditions of living, and to the second belong the cereals (wheat, oats, corn, barley, rice and rye), and also beans, peas, and cowpeas, all of which are relatively cheap. There is an important difference between the proteins of these two classes of foods. The first are complete and the second incomplete. This means that of the "building stones," or, as chemists say, the amino acids, necessary for making body protein, the first supply all, while the second, with a few possible exceptions, are lacking in one or two.

To use bread or cereals in other forms to the exclusion of milk, eggs, cheese and similar foods is unsafe from the standpoint of health, but to use the latter food in greater amount for making body protein, at the cost of the diet. It becomes an important matter, therefore, to know how much of the perfect protein food one should use. It is generally agreed that a child under six should have either one quart of milk a day, or better still, three-fourths of a quart and one egg, or child over six should have a minimum of one quart of milk. Different ways of utilizing this kitchen standby are sure of a welcome from the cook.

List Given Suggests Total Amount of Complete-Protein Food Desirable for Family Served in Form of Central Dish.

In planning meals and when buying supplies, it is well to think of the following foods as in a class by themselves: Milk, eggs, cheese of all kinds, meats (excepting salt pork and bacon), poultry, fish and sea foods. These foods are grouped together because they provide what is now called adequate or complete protein or protein combinations. The term "adequate" or "complete" is used in connection with these proteins because of their important relation to the proteins of the body.

Cost of War in Blood and Treasure

Did the bank teller at his window. He is counting $10 bills. His cage is stacked high with boxes of $10 bills. He is counting 100 bills every minute. He works ten hours a day, seven days a week. He is trying to count the money spent on the world war. But he will never, never be able to do it—not he, nor his son, nor his son's son, nor many generations to come. To count out in $10 bills the money spent on the war would take more than 1,000 years. Millions of men have lived to be 900 years old, might have done it by working nights. No other man could.

It must not be overlooked that Meiselsdorf, after in his own time or ours, would soon have run out of currency. The world does not have, and never will have, in money of any denomination, the appalling sum of $221,000,000,000. Something like that is what the world has spent on the war that is passing into history, writes Theodore Alvine in the New York Tribune.

These are figures that outdistance the comprehension of the wisest man that ever lived. The cost of the war transcends all the monetary conceptions which even a financier can conjure up. Nor is it much easier to conceive the toll of life that the war has taken.

Great Britain alone has lost in the war about 1,000,000 men. France has lost perhaps 1,000,000 more. In a general way these figures mean something to us, but an illustration may help visualize these allied dead.

Not more than 100,000 persons have marched in the greatest parade that Fifth avenue has ever known. Our prewar parade, and possibly the Third Liberty Loan parade, totaled that number of marchers. All day long they marched, and until after sundown. We thrilled at the sight of these living Americans.

Let us visualize the march of the British dead. At daybreak they start down Fifth avenue, 20 abreast. Their fallen comrades follow a few paces behind, in close marching order. Until sundown these men who have "gone west" march down the avenue. The next day there is a similar parade and the next, and the next. For ten days the British dead pass in review.

For 11 days more the French dead file down the Avenue of the Allies. Three weeks of marching dead men.

The Russians who died fighting for their empire that was would replace the daylight hours of five weeks more. And for the other brave allied fighting men we must reserve a fortnight. Two months and a half for the allied dead to march past a given point.

The enemy dead although definite figures are not available, number about 1,500,000. For them a pass in review would require more than six weeks.

Throughout all the daylight hours of June, July, August and September, then, the ghastly procession would continue. It is an appalling picture to contemplate.

As preliminary punishment for the fugitive leaver, for whom so many horrible tales have been suggested, there may be torture available here. For him to stand at attention throughout four hot summer months, while the ghosts of those he sent to death pass in constant review—surely, that might inflict mental agony enough to oppose the most vindictive.

Historians will finally agree that $221,000,000,000—or some such figure—was spent in the nation's treasury. They will eventually place the toll of dead at 11,000,000 at the end of the war. They may decide that shipping was destroyed to the value of $2,000,000,000. But never, in comparing the cost of the war will they be able to estimate accurately these indirect losses.

Physical suffering.

Increased illness.

Lowered race vitality.

Decreased birth rate.

Outdated education.

Monetary degradation.

Property destroyed.

Crops and lives devastated.

Carriage wrecked.

Property down and by halves.

Industry crippled by diversion of men.

Production diverted from creative to destructive purpose.

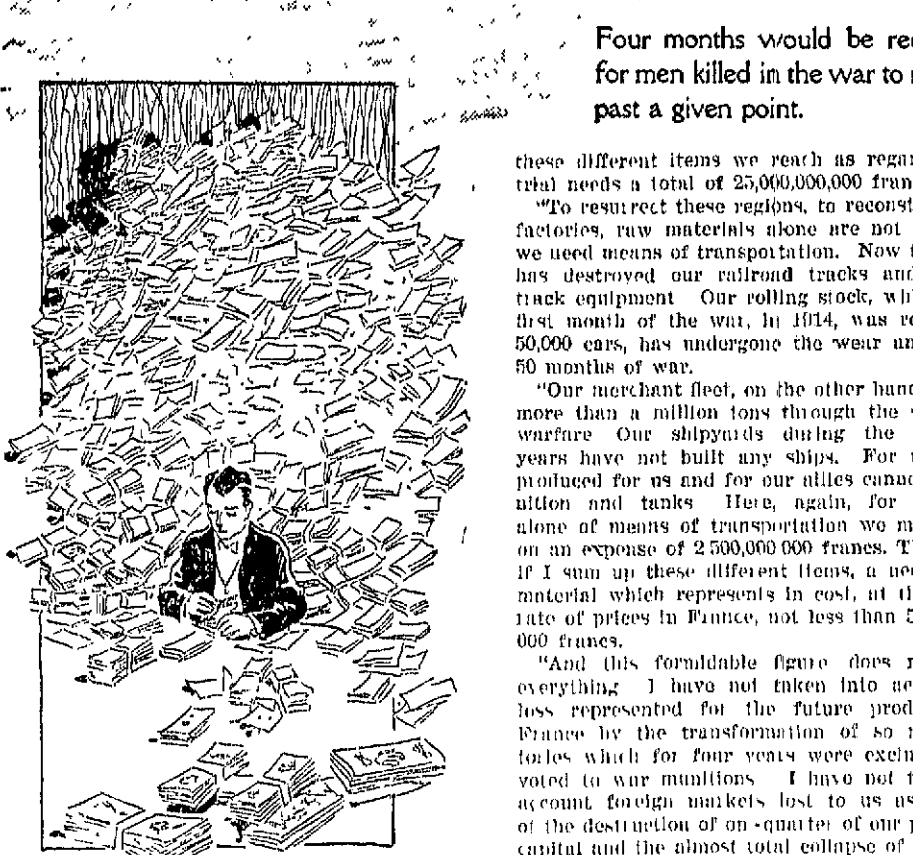

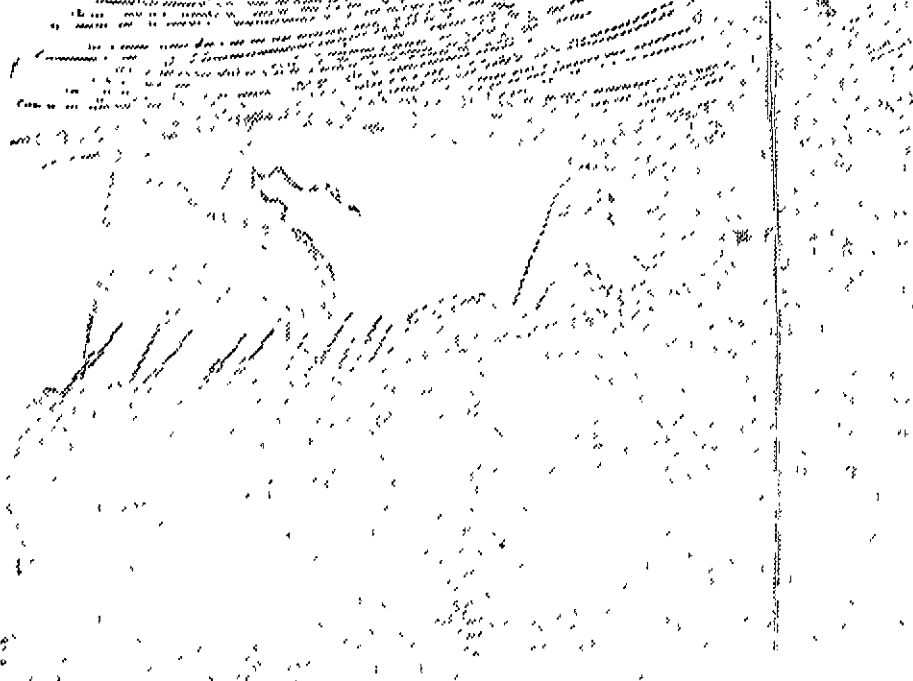

Business development checked.

Inflation of currency and increased prices.

Of these indirect losses, the invaded territory which has been ravaged by the allied armies, under German, French high command, to the United States, says:

"The territories which have been under German occupation for four years were the wealthiest part of France. They were not only the richest part of the whole country, they had however 25 per cent of the sum total of fuel, houses, territories, which have been occupied mainly by us at the cost of our own blood and the blood of our allies, are now in a state of ruin even worse than we had anticipated. The very ground is torn overgrown, laid waste, damaged with shell splinters, and for months, maybe for years, unfit for production. The soil has been cut, saved down to the level of the ground."

"Of the cities and villages nothing remains but ruins; 350,000 homes have been destroyed. To build them up again I am referring to the bul-ling power, without furnishings—500,000,000 days of work will be necessary, involving, together with building material, an outlay of 10,000,000,000 francs.

"As regards personal property of every description, either destroyed by battle or stolen by the Germans, there stands an additional loss of at least 1,000,000,000 francs. This valuation of lost personal property does not include as definite figures are lacking as yet—the countless war contributions and thus by the enemy, amounting also to billions."

"I need hardly say that, in these wealthy lands, no agricultural resources are left. The losses in houses and in cities, railways and highway facilities, goods amount to 1,500,000 head—no agricultural equipment to 450,000 machines or cars—the two items with together, 6,000,000,000 francs."

"Now as regards industries the disaster is even more complete. These districts occupied by the Germans and whose machinery has been methodically destroyed or taken away by the enemy, were, industrially speaking, the very heart of France. They were the very backbone of our production, as shown in the following startling figures:

"In 1917 the steel output of our invaded regions amounted to 44 per cent of the total French production. And corresponding figures were for the following: pig iron 51 per cent; iron ore, 50 per cent; pig iron 51 per cent; steel, 70 per cent; sugar 70 per cent; cotton 60 per cent; coal, 55 per cent; electric power, 45 per cent. Of all that plants, machinery, mines, nothing is left. Everything has been carried away or destroyed by the enemy. So complete is the destruction that, in the case of our great coal mines in the north, two years of work will be needed before a single ton of coal can be extracted and ten years before the output is back to the figures of 1913."

"All that must be rebuilt, and to carry out that kind of reconstruction only there will be a need of over 2,000,000 tons of pig iron, nearly 4,000,000 tons of steel—not to mention the replenishing of stocks and of raw materials which must of necessity be supplied to the plants during the first year of resumed activity. If we take into account these different items we reach as regards industrial needs a total of 25,000,000,000 francs.

"To reconstruct these regions, to reconstruct these factories, raw materials alone are not sufficient; we need means of transportation. Now the enemy has destroyed our railroad tracks and railroad track equipment. Our rolling stock, which in the first month of the war, in 1914, was reduced by 50,000 cars, has undergone the wear and tear of 50 months of war."

"Our merchant fleet, on the other hand, has lost more than a million tons through the submarine warfare. Our shipyards during the last four years have not built any ships. For they have produced for us and for our allies cannon, ammunition and tanks. Here, again, for this item alone of means of transportation we must figure on an expense of 2,500,000,000 francs. This makes, if I sum up these different items, a need of raw material which represents in cost, at the present rate of prices in France, not less than 50,000,000,000 francs."

"And this formidable figure does not cover everything. I have not taken into account the loss represented for the future production of France by the transformation of so many factories which for four years were exclusively devoted to war munitions. I have not taken into account foreign markets lost to us as a result of the destruction of our quarter of our productive capital and the almost total collapse of our trade. I have not taken into account the economic weakening that we shall suffer, tomorrow owing to the loss of 4,000,000 young and vigorous men."

"Compared to these, the losses accruing to the United States as a result of the war, of course, slight. America has scarcely been 'bleeding.' It is true that the war may cost the United States possibly 50,000 lives—every one a precious offering to freedom—but several times as many Americans have died at home during the recent influenza epidemic."

When we consider the number of Americans who died in our Civil war, our present losses seem almost trivial. The deaths from all causes in the Civil war totaled 618,528—about 15 times as many lives as the world war cost the United States. These killed in action on the Union side alone—10,070 men fighting for the North—out-number more than two to one the Americans who have recently died fighting overseas."

"The financial condition America has made toward defeating the central powers is magnificent—but comparatively a small sacrifice for the richest country in the world."

To date the total war indebtedness of the United States is $17,832,377,000, distributed as follows:

First Liberty Loan	$2,000,000,000
Second Liberty Loan	$2,000,000,000
Third Liberty Loan	$2,000,000,000
Fourth Liberty Loan	$2,000,000,000
War Savings Stamps	$1,832,377,000

A fifth loan is being planned to help defray the cost of the war. The tax bill now under consideration by congress and other taxation will not net the remainder America has spent, or will spend to finish up the disastereous job.

But even if the war finally costs America $15,000,000,000—other estimates have varied from $20,000,000,000 to $30,000,000,000—that is a small portion of its national wealth. How the amount the United States has spent on the war compares with its economic wealth and how these figures stand for the practical end of the war may be seen from the following estimates, no exact figures being available:

National Wealth	War Cost	Per War Debt
United States	$250,000,000,000	$15,000,000,000

NEW METAL-SPRAYING IDEA

Process is Said to Be Great Improvement Over Method That Has Been in Common Use.

Attention was called some time ago to the introduction of the Schopp metal-spraying process by which a coating of metal is deposited on a surface of metal by means of a device which deposits the molten in the shape of a spray. An interesting improvement has been recently made in this process, which is reported in a recent issue of Engineering of London.

Instead of molting the metal which is generally applied, in the shape of a wire, by the oxy hydrogen flame or the blowpipe electric fusion is now used and is said to be both simpler and cheaper. The pistol apparatus is employed as before, but two ends of the wire are placed in the pistol, instead of one, and they are connected by one another as electrodes of an electric circuit. When the arc strikes, the wire fuses, and the air current blowing and conformation, this molting into backgrounds. And you will not have lived close to it long before you will see in it the art of life; not of progress, perhaps, or of growth and change and aggressive advancement, but of life, for all that.

"It is as though the little brown people had said to the kindly old earth about them: 'Come, let us dwell together in unity,' and then had gone about keeping their half of the covenant of harmony with the gentlest grace in the world, building temple and shrine and dwelling, bridge and highway and pagoda, so that each should conform most graciously to the immediate world about. So, at the foot of gray cliffs, along the curve of gray waters, the little villages, silver-gray of roof, serenely to be distinguished from the gaize of smoke that drifts above their chimneys. Up among the gentle green of camphor trees a temple lure you with its myriad steps—a temple of stone, age-softened, moss-grown, mellowed to the tone of things about it, until it is invisible as a dried in her grove; or there against the silver holes of giant cypripediums glimmers a shrine only a shade less silver than they, beyond its successive arches of becoming pillars.

"And it is perhaps for the faithful covenant-keeping with the old earth that their sense of the melody of things has been given them; for theirs it is melody, rhythm, fitness."—Century Magazine.

POLITE BANDIT WORKS DENVER

Belated Citizens Are Held Up by Hold-Up-Man De Luxe.

WON'T ROB SOLDIER

Modern Raffles Distinks Old Watches, but He Dearly Loves Coin—Doesn't Use Stronger Word Than Damn.

Denver, Colo.—"Raffles," the gentlemanly crackman, has nothing on a bandit who has been making free with other people's bankrolls here for over two months. The exploits of Denver's hold-up man de luxe began last summer when a sturdy chap, clad in a dingy maculaw, stuck a gun under the point of an astonished citizen's nose and ordered him to come across with his valuables.

The astounded citizen complied, passing over a roll consisting of $17.50 cash, a check on a local bank, and an antiquated timepiece. The robber surveyed the latter and then promptly handed it back, remarking as an afterthought it might be a good watch, but that he had no use for it.

The following night the marauder appeared at precisely the same spot and this time two citizens pointed their hands skyward at the sound of his command, and the sight of a huge nickel revolver.

Stuck Up Four.

His most recent affair occurred on a Saturday night when he stuck up no less than four belated townspeople who were turning their steps homeward, framing excuses as they went. Stammering the bad man appeared and reported his usual formula of "Hands up and darned quiet about it" (being a gentleman, he never uses a stronger word than damn). Anyway, the four late home-goers, or early, whichever way you care to look at it, elevated their hands with all the dazed quickness desired by Raffles the Second. Three of them were ordinary citizens; that is to say, they are in civil life. The fourth was a soldier and in Uncle Sam's uniform. The bandit collected from the three citizens, but when he came to the soldier, bowed politely, wished him good evening, and declared his uniform was enough to protect him from any further outside the marts of trade.

The police are still looking for the man, while belated citizens are going home earlier.

ASKS WIFE TO FREE HUSBY

Affinity Declares That They "Have the Synopacted Love That Never Withers."

Akron, O.—"I love him dearly and feel that he loves me, and that we have the synopacted love that never withers."

This sentence is taken from a letter sent by an affinity to the wife of a local resident, urging that the wife release her husband "from the bonds which hold him from me and happiness."

The wife turned the letter over to officials of the Summit county court of domestic relations with a recommendation that the husband be located and compelled to answer to her accusations of non-support, or some charge, with a view to separating him from his affinity and making him take better care of his wife.

DID NOT BELIEVE IN BANKS

Janitor Kept Savings Amounting to $7,600 in Bureau Drawer—Money Disappears.

Chicago.—Joseph Rosinger, a janitor, didn't believe in banks, so he kept his $7,600 savings, with which he hoped to pay a first installment on an apartment building of his own, in his bureau drawer. Someone got into the bureau, and the money is gone—and now Rosinger doesn't believe in anything.

Was It a Premonition? Greenville, Pa.—As John Lawrence, stricken with apoplexy, lay on his deathbed speechless he would extend his right hand with the fingers outstretched. This was explained by Mrs. Lawrence as a premonition that the members of the family would die. Following Lawrence's death there came in rapid succession the deaths of Mrs. Lawrence's sister, a son and a nephew. Then word was received of the death in France of another son. All the deaths took place within two weeks.

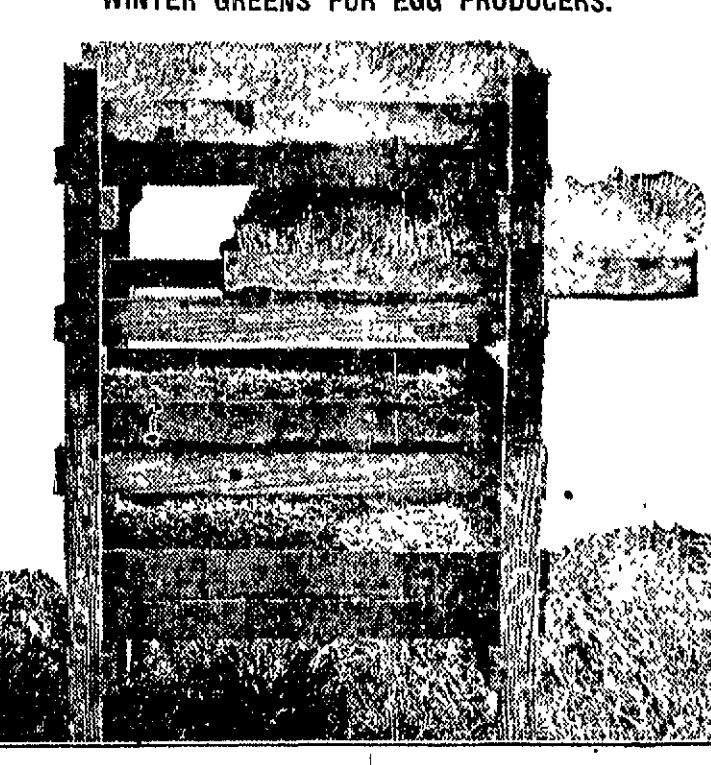

Leaky Wheelbarrow Causes Arrest. Chester, Pa.—A leaky wheelbarrow brought about the arrest of Joseph C. Peterson, a former employee of local grain dealers. A trail of feed and grain led from the firm's warehouse to Peterson's home.

Boy Bandit, 15, Got 30-Year Sentence. Jersey City, N. J.—Thomas W. Butte, fifteen years old, colored, had been sentenced to serve a maximum term of thirty years in the New Jersey state prison. He was convicted of stealing 35 cents.

WINTER GREENS FOR EGG PRODUCERS.

Simple, Handy Rack for Sprouting Oats.

WINTER RATION FOR HEN FLOCK

Poultrymen Should Have Supply of Green Feed to Last Through Cold Season.

SPROUTED OATS ARE FAVORED

Provide Succulence and Bulk to Keep Fowls in Good Condition—Cabbages, Mangel Wurzel, Clover and Alfalfa Good.

Green feeds for poultry contain only a small percentage of actual food nutrients, but are important because of their succulence and bulk, which lighten the grain rations and assist in keeping the birds in good condition. The poultryman should secure a sufficient supply of such feeds to last through the winter months in sections where growing green feeds cannot be obtained. When chickens are fattened without the use of milk, green feed helps to keep them in good condition.

Cabbage, mangel wurzel, clover, alfalfa and sprouted oats are the green feeds commonly used during the winter. Cabbages do not keep as well as ordinary cabbages as mangel wurzel, so where both of these feeds are available the cabbages are fed first. They are often suspended, while the mangel wurzel is split and stuck on a nail on the wall of the pen. Clover and alfalfa may be fed as hay, cut into one-half to one-inch lengths, or may be bought in the form of meal. Alfalfa meal has a feeding analysis equal to meal, but is not as digestible as meal.

Cabbages do not keep as well as ordinary cabbages as mangel wurzel, so where both of these feeds are available the cabbages are fed first. ## NO ROOM FOR PESSIMISM

Canada as a Nation Builder.

With Canada's great task in the war before the public, the burdens that she so willingly took and so ably carried, and her recent victory in subduing $175,000,000 in the fifth Victory Bond Loan more than she asked, he would be a skeptic who would ascribe the word pessimism with her present condition. Canada deplores the heavy human loss which she has suffered, but even those akin to those lost in battle say with cheerfulness that while the sacrifice was great, the cause was wonderful, and accept their sufferings with grace. It may well be said there is no room in Canada today for the word pessimism. The agricultural production of the country has doubled in four years. $10,000,000 are the railway earnings today or 3 1/2 times what they were ten years ago, while the bank deposits are now $1,733,000,000 as compared with $133,000,000 thirty years ago.

There is a wonderful promise for the future.

It is with buoyancy that Canada faces an era of peace. She has triumphed over the soul-testing crisis of war. Hence the war Canada was a horror, and expected to continue so for many years. For the past year and a half we have seen her finance herself. She has also been furnishing credits to other nations.

A recent article in the "Boston Transcript" says: "The people at home have not been lagging behind the boys at the front in courage, resourcefulness and efficiency. The development of Canada's war industry has been an industrial romance of front rank. American Government officials can testify to the efficiency of the manufacturing plant Canada has built up in four short years. In Department after Department where they found American industry failed them they were able to turn to Canada. The full story may be revealed some day."

The same paper says: "It is a new Canada that emerges from the world war in 1918—a nation transformed from that which entered the conflict in 1914."

"The war has taken from Canada a cruel toll. More than 50,000 of her bravest sons lie in soldiers' graves in Europe. Three times that number have been more or less incapacitated by wounds. The cost of the war in money is estimated to be already $1,100,000,000. These are not light losses for a country of 8,000,000 people. Fortunately, Canada is also a creditable country. She has found herself in this war. She has discovered not merely the gallantry of her soldiers, but the brains and capacity and efficiency of her whole people, in every branch, in arms, in industry, in finance, she has had to measure her wits against the world, and in no case has Canada reason to be other than gratified."—Advertiser.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Burbo Compound, and a quarter of a box of hair oil. Put this up in a bottle and use it at home at your little cost. Put directions for making and use in each box of Burbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

French Army's Tremendous Loss

3,000,000 soldiers of France, about one-half her entire army, have been killed or seriously wounded, according to Andre Tardie, French high commissioner to the United States. This enormous sacrifice for liberty is larger than that of any other country. America owes France a huge debt of gratitude, not only for this, but also for the discovery by her peasants of a perfect remedy for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments which is reported to have alleviated incalculable suffering, prevented many surgical operations and saved thousands of lives the world over. Geo. H. Mayr, for many years leading Chicago chemist, imports the ingredients and sells this remedy in America under the name of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Otto's Pharmacy.
